THE HAGSTROM HISTORY

◆ In 1958, Swedish-based Hagstrom started manufacturing electric guitars.

The first Hagstrom Deluxe solid body guitars featured a distinctive sparkle and pearloid celluloid finish, an ingenious repurposing of materials previously used in Hagstrom’s Accordion production line. Over the years, Hagstrom expanded the line-up to include hollow body guitars like the Viking and the Jimmy, electric basses including the legendary 8-string, and Hagstrom’s flagship models, the Swede and the Super Swede. Hagstrom also produced a series of acoustic and classical guitars in the early 70’s. When Hagstrom ceased production in 1983, the guitars became instant collectors items, and the love and respect for these fine instruments continues to be celebrated by musicians around the world.

◆ 23 years later, the legacy is reborn.

The Hagstrom Select Series, Vintage Series, and UltraLux Series guitars recapture the original glorious Hagstrom style. They are built to the same stringent quality standards and feature Hagstrom’s exclusive technologies including the legendary H-Expander™ Truss Rod while introducing a number of new technological advancements such as the Resinator™ Fretboard in order to guarantee that these are the finest guitars on the market.

All materials are sourced from the world’s best suppliers, hardware is custom made to K. E. Hagstrom's unique designs and exact specifications. The revolutionary neck design is totally unique to Hagstrom guitars and includes the patented H-Expander Truss Rod and exclusive Resinator™ Fretboard. These two technologies result in a rock solid neck that allows guitar players to dial in the perfect action.

Quality and expertise are fused into exceptional instruments that exemplify the legend of Hagstrom. To find out more about Hagstrom’s magnificent tone and tremendous playability, please visit: www.hagstromguitars.com.

Kyrkhärbret, built in 1285, is the oldest house made of wood in Sweden. Located in Älvdalen, the birthplace of K. E. Hagstrom.
Revolutionary Neck Design
All new Hagstrom electric guitars include the patented H-Expander™ Truss Rod. Providing tension at either end and running the entire length of the neck, the rigid yet lightweight alloy truss rod allows for a very low action and thin neck, two factors that were instrumental in earning Hagstrom its reputation as the world’s fastest playing guitar. The fretboard is made from Hagstrom’s own Resinator™ Wood, a composite wood that is homogeneous in nature and is more stable than any standard wood product. It is the perfect fingerboard material in that it eliminates wolf tones or hot spots, and it has an articulate sound like high quality Ebony, but without the problems associated with Ebony.

Custom Hardware
With unique aesthetics and ensuring accurate tuning, Hagstrom’s exclusive 18:1 gear ratio machine heads are featured on all electric models. Fixed bridge guitars get the Hagstrom Block Stop Tailpiece, another Hagstrom original, that drives the wood of the guitar body with uninhibited string energy generating maximum tone and sustain. On XL Series and F Series guitars, the Full Contact System tremolo bridge (FCS-1) offers more contiguous contact than any other tremolo bridge on the market. All guitars feature the Self-lubricating Graphite Composite Nut that further ensures increased sustain and vibration through improved transfer of energy to the neck.

Select Materials
Hagstrom uses only the finest select tone woods and figured wood stocks to enhance the sound and beauty of each instrument. Carefully selected hard tropical Mahogany tone woods are used on the body to produce a powerful and warm sound, and North American Hard Rock Maple provides a bright articulate tone.
Jaw-Dropping Finish
Hagstrom guitars feature a high grade polyester finish which is much harder, smoother and denser while also producing much better sonic performance than polyurethane finishes used by other guitar companies.

Hagstrom guitars are legendary among guitarists because of their playability, beauty, and durability. Since 1958, Hagstrom has been combining legendary design with premium materials, unique hardware, and innovative manufacturing techniques to create these magnificent guitars. Visit your Hagstrom dealer today and experience these guitars for yourself. Find out why our revolutionary neck design makes all the difference in providing you with a dream-come-true guitar playing experience.

Hagbags
Hagbags are designed specifically to snuggly fit all Hagstrom models. A unique B-Wave assembly incorporated into the lower body section provides superior protection and the Hagbag is lighter and less bulky than conventional gig bags.

Hagbags come in three different sizes:
- Small for all solid-bodies
- Medium for the Vikings
- Large for the Jazz models

Exterior Features
- Tear-resistant Cordura coating
- Reinforced throughout with structural B wave material
- Rigid ergonomic handle
- Two large accessory pouches
- Removable shoulder straps with padding
- Soft padded back for comfort when wearing back pack style

Interior Features
- Soft padding
- Additional bottom and headstock protectors
- Wide neck support with Velcro fastener for perfect neck security
- Additional accessory compartment
- Neck support can be removed and used on a workbench, etc.

Hag Cases
Hagstrom Hard Cases are manufactured in our factory from high grade plywood and feature heavy duty gold plated latches, an ergonomic soft handle and deep plush lining to reduce interior movement. The outer finish is a beautiful vintage tan Tolex with brown stitching and matching Hagstrom logo.

The rectangular flat cases for the F-series and XL guitars also feature dark brown leatherette end caps with distinctive brown stitching. The cases for the Select, Swede, Deluxe, Ultra Swede, Viking and H-series hollow body models feature an rigid arch top and form fitting design.
